VEGETINE

VEGETINE has never failed to effect a cure, giving tone and strength to the system debilitated by disease.

SHE RESTS WELL.

SOUTH POLAND, Me., Oct. 17, 1876.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir—I have been sick two years with the liver complaint, and during that time have taken a great many different medicines but none of them did me any good. I was restless nights and had no appetite. Since taking the Vegetine I rest well and relish my food. Can recommend the Vegetine for what it has done for me. Yours respectfully,

MRS. ALBERT RICKER.

Witness of the above,
Mr. Geo. M. Vaughan, Medford, Mass.

VEGETINE.

Thousands will bear testimony (and do it voluntarily) that Vegetine is the best medical compound yet placed before the public for renovating and purifying the blood, eradicating all humors, impurities or poisonous secretions from the system, invigorating and strengthening the system debilitated by disease; in fact, it is as many have called it, "The Great Health Restorer."

SAFE AND SURE.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

In 1872 your Vegetine was recommended to me, and yielding to the persuasions of a friend, I consented to try it. At the time, I was suffering from general debility and nervous prostration, superinduced by overwork and irregular habits. Its wonderful strengthening and curative properties seemed to affect my debilitated system from the first dose, and under its persistent use I rapidly recovered, gaining more than usual health and good feeling, since then I have not hesitated to give Vegetine my most unqualified indorsement as being a safe, sure and powerful agent in promoting health and restoring the wasted system to new life and energy. Vegetine is the only medicine I use, and as long as I live I never expect to find a better.

Yours truly, W. H. CLARKE,
120 Monterey Street, Alleghany, Pa.

VEGETINE.

VEGETINE thoroughly eradicates every kind of humor, and restores the entire system to a healthy condition.

The following letter from Rev. G. W. Mansfield, formerly pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Hyde Park, and at present settled in Lowell, must convince every one who reads this letter of the wonderful curative qualities of Vegetine as a thorough cleanser and purifier of the blood:

HYDE PARK, Mass., Feb. 15, 1876.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir—About ten years ago my health failed through the depleting effects of dyspepsia; nearly a year later I was attacked by typhoid fever in its worst form, it settled in my back and took the form of a large deep-seated abscess, which was fifteen months in gathering. I had two surgical operations, by the best skill in the state but received no permanent cure. I suffered great pain at times and was constantly weakened by a profuse discharge. I also lost small pieces of bone at different times.

Matters ran on thus about seven years, till May, 1874, when a friend recommended me to go to your office and talk with you of the virtue of Vegetine. I did so, and by your kindness passed through your manufactory, noting the ingredients, etc., by which your remedy is produced.

By what I saw and heard I gained some confidence in Vegetine.

I commenced taking it soon after, but felt worse from its effects; still I persevered and soon felt it was benefiting me in other respects. Yet I did not see the results I desired, till I had taken it faithfully for a little more than a year, when the difficulty in the back was cured, and for nine months I have enjoyed the best of health.

I have in that time gained twenty five pounds of flesh, being heavier than ever before in my life, and I can horse more able to perform labor than now.

During the past few weeks I had a scrofulous swelling as large as my fist gather on another part of my body.

I took Vegetine faithfully and it removed it level with the surface in a month. I think I should have been cured of my main trouble sooner if I had taken larger doses, after having become accustomed to its effects.

Let your patrons troubled with scrofula or kidney disease understand that it takes time to cure chronic diseases, and if they will patiently take Vegetine, it will, in my judgment, cure them.

With great obligations I am,
Yours very truly,
G. W. MANSFIELD,
Pastor of the Methodist E. Church.

Prepared by H. R. STEVENS, Boston, Mass.

Vegetine is Sold by all Druggists.

War Against the Khedive.

LONDON, May 7.

The Telegraph's Vienna despatch has the following:

Another Russian Defeat.

The Turks are greatly elated. Their gunboats were uninjured. The Russian camp ignited by a shell.

The Russian Movement.

LONDON, May 7.

ENGLAND'S TENDENCY TO WAR.

Commercial Banquet in New York.

INVITATIONS ACCEPTED BY THE PRESIDENT AND CABINET.

THE BRITISH POSITION.

NEW YORK, May 7.

Most of the advices from special European correspondents of the New York press incline to the belief that England is almost certain to be drawn into the conflict. The recent extraordinary activity in military and naval affairs proves that England is preparing for war.

The Chamber of Commerce has issued invitations to its annual banquet at Delmonico's next Thursday. The president and cabinet have accepted invitations, and ex-Governor Tilden has been invited. The dinner is to be purely social, and politics will be ignored.

Uniform Telegraphy.

The Western Union Telegraph Company are considering the policy of adopting permanent uniform rates of 25, 50 and 75 cents to all parts of North America, the tariffs to competitive points to remain at the present low prices.

FROM NEW YORK.

American Labor Reform League.

NEW YORK, May 7.

The seventh annual convention of the American Labor Reform League commenced on Sunday in Masonic Hall. Lengthy resolutions were offered denouncing both the republican and democratic parties, and declaring that no candidate will receive a labor reform vote who is not opposed to property in land, money monopoly, compulsory taxation and every device giving increase to property and an income, without labor, to its holders; and that men and women should be paid equally for the same labor. Addresses were made on the resolutions by several delegates. There will be further discussion tomorrow.

The Custom House.

Solicitor Robinson has informed Secretary Sherman that there is room for improvement and reform in every department of the New York Custom House that the committee has investigated.

Seventeen Year Locusts at Greenbush.

The seventeen year locust has appeared at Greenbush, Rensselaer county, this state, and the young foliage on trees begins to show their ravages.

The Accident to the Sidonian.

The steamship Sidonian was a freight steamer and has no passengers. It is thought that only some portion of her steam apparatus burst, as engineers here state had her boiler burst it would have blown a hole in her bottom. She had a mixed cargo of grain.

Religious Anniversaries.

The anniversary of the American Bible Society was held last night, and was largely attended. The address of the Rev. Dr. Taylor upon difficulties in translating the Bible was attentively listened to.

At the anniversary of the American Home Missionary Society the report showed that 996 missionaries are engaged in 32 states. Receipts of the year, $293,712; expenditures, $310,604, leaving over $7000 due for missionary labor. Rev. Drs. Storrs, Coe and others participated, and Dr. Eddy of Detroit delivered the annual sermon, in which he held that the evangelization of the United States was practicable, although it might be difficult.

The Postoffice Committee

today are examining Architect Mullett, and will send their report to Secretary Sherman tonight.

The Weather.

The weather is clear, pleasant and warmer. Wind west.

The Mobile Postmaster.

NEW YORK, May 7.

The World says Wickersham, appointed postmaster of Mobile, was so utterly unfit for office that Grant removed him a year ago, and Hayes's reappointment of him has occasioned great indignation, as protesting despatches from the business men, republicans and democrats, already show. One of the charges against Wickersham was that he bought Mobile scrip with government money, and paid his clerk with it. An Associated Press despatch from Mobile today says the appointment causes great rejoicing there.

THE AMERICAN CONSTITUTION.

[From North American Review.]

The American Constitution was the production of the most intelligent minds of our country at the period of its formation. It was not in any sense the result of inventive genius; for its main features had been suggested by the experience of the thirteen colonies both during and before the confederation. When we compare it with the British Constitution, with the Articles of Confederation, and with the different colonial governments, we shall be surprised to find how little there is in it that was new. The particulars in which the new government differed from that of the Confederation had been suggested by the very brief experience of a few years under the latter government. * * * * *

The framers of the Constitution were very conservative democrats, if democrats they might be called. While professing theoretically to believe in the natural rights of men, and in a government by the people, they entertained a profound distrust of the capacity of the people to govern themselves; and consented to bring the new government directly to the people only in one department,—the election of members of the House of Representatives. By recognizing the necessity of an elective executive, and putting away with aversion the idea of a monarchy, they yet sought to place the executive as far from the people as possible. They accordingly devised the scheme of the electoral college, the members of which were to be chosen in a manner prescribed by the legislatures of the several states. * * * * The theory of the electoral college was, that it should be composed of a body of select men, chosen on account of their wisdom and high character, who should be entirely uncommitted and untrammelled in their action, and meet, deliberate, and vote with perfect independence. And, to secure their independence, it was provided that they should vote by ballot, so that one should not know how the others voted. Not only were they not expected to be pledged in advance to vote for a particular candidate, but the precise theory of their creation was, that they should not be so pledged, but remain perfectly free and uncommitted, to do what their sound judgment dictated, when they came together to choose a president. * * * * The constitution further provided, that in case no person received a majority of the votes of all the electors appointed, the House of Representatives should proceed to elect, voting by states,—each state having one vote, without regard to population, or to the number of representatives in the House. New York, having a population forty six times greater than Nevada, would have but one vote,—Nevada having one.

Another fact which the enemies of republican government in Europe have been slow to recognize, is the conservatism of the masses of the American people. The enemies of republicanism have through centuries opposed it, upon the ground that the people are governed by passion and impulse, variable in their notions, pulling down tomorrow what they built today, and incapable of a steady purpose or policy. The experience of a hundred years with the American people has demonstrated the fact that the great mass are opposed to change,—are steady, conservative, and consistent in their views, and will not consent to any alteration in the fundamental plan of government, except upon the clearest convictions, established by long experience, of the necessity for a change. * * * *

The late election for President showed not only that the great purpose for which the electoral college was originally erected had utterly failed, but that it is artificial, complex, liable to derangement and accident, and gives rise to a number of questions which may decide the result of an election, and yet have no connection with the merits of the controversy. * * * * Experience, as well as reason, now suggests that the rubbish of the electoral college be brushed away entirely, and the people allowed to vote directly for the man of their choice for President and Vice-President. Now the people cannot vote for him, but must vote for others who are pledged to vote for him. All this requires that there shall be political conventions or caucuses, which shall place in nomination the persons to be voted for as electors, so that all the people of the same way of thinking may vote for the same candidates for electors. * * * *

TUESDAY, MAY 8, 1877.

THE DAY.

The United States Cartridge Company of Providence are said to have received recent extensive orders in consequence of the European war.

The treasury statement of the reduction of the national debt shows that during the past nine years we have wiped out nearly five hundred millions of dollars.

Rev. Thatcher Thayer D. D. of this city will preach the sermon before the Society of Missionary Inquiry at the commencement exercises of Brown University.

We give a large portion of our space to the Brown murder trial. The testimony is reported quite fully so that those who desire it can obtain a knowledge of the case that shall enable them to form an intelligent judgment of its merits.

The possible candidates for governor in Massachusetts this fall, according to the Tribune's Boston letter, are Messrs. Rice, Pierce, Talbot, Long and Sanford on the one side, and Gaston, Thompson and Saltonstall on the other.

Eight persons were poisoned at Portsmouth, Va., yesterday. It is thought that arsenic was put into their food at breakfast but by whom or for what does not appear. Five have died and three are still in a critical condition.

Alderman DeBlois proposes to put up a first class three story building on the corner of Thames and Mill streets. It is one of the best business localities in the city, and the owner can scarcely employ his loose change to better advantage.

The New York Herald denies the charge made against it that it is given to bragging. In that the Herald is right. It is too large and vigorous a paper to engage in boasting. Only the little concerns that have no other method of making themselves appear big indulge in that kind of talk.

The N. Y. Herald suggests that it is time that reform schools were opened for adults, and that a certain class of ranters should be placed in them and kept there until they are educated out of the lunacy into which they seem to have fallen. It seems incredible that any body of sane men, even with empty pockets, could have listened quietly to the ignorant, idiotic twaddle expressed in speeches and resolutions before the Labor Reform League at its late session.

A second boat is to be put upon the route between Newport and Providence tomorrow. This will be good news to the public generally as the time has come when travel begins to revive in our bay. With two such capital boats as the Bay Queen and the City of Newport every one ought to be satisfied. The American Steamboat Company is entitled to the thanks of the whole community for the superior advantages afforded. The second boat will leave this city at 4 P. M.

R. H. Macy the wealthy New York merchant leaves his son only $1000 a year, with the provision that he is to receive nothing if he attempts to contest the will. He gives his reasons as follows:

"I am grieved to say in this solemn manner that my experience has been such with my son, Rowland H. Macy, Jr., that I cannot intrust him with the care or management of any property. He has never succeeded in supporting himself. On the contrary, though he is now twenty-nine years of age, he has been entirely supported and maintained by me, and although I have done everything in my power to aid him in establishing habits of temperance and sobriety, yet I am compelled to acknowledge the failure of every effort made by me and others to that end. His passion for strong drink has not hitherto been controlled by him."

This is a sad testimony borne by the father as to the habits of the son. And yet when we find a large quantity of wines and liquors left by that father to other heirs and friends we are led to ask if the complaisant does not share somewhat the responsibility. Parents who feed the appetites of their children must not wonder at such results as this, and they are sure to follow. Men do not gather figs from thistles.

The International Review, published by A. S. Barnes & Co., in its May-June number opens with an able article on The New Federal Administration, which though non-partisan fully endorses and sustains the new departure of President Hayes. The writer discusses the civil service reform inaugurated and the pacification movement from the standpoint of a true patriot and shows clearly that the present policy is simply a return to that of the fathers, and is the only one that can be pursued with entire safety to our national interests. These are conclusions to which the people are fast gravitating, in spite of the protest of the would-be political leaders on either side. In all intelligent quarters the administration of President Hayes is winning golden opinions, and if the voters of the country shall have courage enough to break away from old party lines, the good time long promised will have surely come. This and other leading non-political magazines are doing a good service at this time by discussing national questions in a clear and forcible manner and so free from party bias that none can take offence. Copies of the International may be had at the news rooms and we commend the present number throughout to favorable consideration.

CLEANING A BRUSSELS CARPET.—First have the carpet well shaken, then tack it down in the room where it is to remain; sweep it as thoroughly as possible; take a pail of hot water, put in two tablespoonfuls of pulverized borax; wash the carpet all over the surface, using a flannel cloth. For grease spots or very dirty places, use a scrubbing brush freely, and a very little soap, taking care to rinse the soap off well after scrubbing; change the water quite often; rub the carpet well with a dry cloth after washing, and open doors and windows so as to dry the carpet as quickly as possible.

A NEW CANTATA.—At a meeting of the members of the "Esther" chorus last evening an executive committee was appointed consisting of Charles T. Hopkins, Benjamin Easton, Jr., Henry Bull, Jr. The officers elected at a previous meeting are John S. Engs president, Henry Bull Jr. secretary, and Charles T. Hopkins treasurer. It was decided to rehearse the cantata of Joseph in Bondage. Mr. Augustus French consented to act as conductor during the summer and it is expected that the cantata will be brought out some time during next winter. Most of the soloists and others who took part in Esther were present last evening and there were also present several persons who were not members of the last chorus and who manifested considerable interest in the new enterprise.

THE FIRE ALARM.—The trouble with the fire alarm telegraph has been discovered. The wires leading from the alarm boxes run through a short piece of gas pipe for several feet above the boxes and then hang loose where they are connected with the line wire. These wires are of copper and are covered with rubber insulation. It seems that at box 5, by some means, the copper wire had been broken and the rubber covering held the ends of the wire near together. The action of the wind on the wire above the injury opened and closed the connection at intervals and struck the bells. This trouble is one of the most difficult to detect of any to which the alarm is subject owing to the irregular intervals at which it shows itself. Workmen may examine the entire line and suppose that the difficulty has been remedied and after a few hours, it may be, with a change of wind or other slight cause, the trouble will again become apparent. The injury has been repaired and the apparatus is now in perfect working order.

THE TRADES' PROCESSION.

The annual trades' procession came off this afternoon, having been put down to start at two o'clock. Where so many are concerned it is quite impossible to be on time, but Gen. Burdick rallied his forces as promptly as possible. The procession was quite extensive and presented a fine appearance. It scarcely needs a detailed description as it is one of those things that everybody sees and enjoys. The tradesmen were out in full force, headed by S. S. Vars with the big eight horse team. No one who watched the line could fail to wonder at the multitude of handsome market wagons with which our city abounds. It may well be doubted if any other town of our size can make so fine a show in that department. And now having started for the summer may they never fail to meet the wants of customers, and gather suitable profits for their owners. "So mote it be."

SUPREME COURT.

ADJOURNED SESSION.

FOURTH DAY.—AFTERNOON.

The court came in at three o'clock in the afternoon. Immediately upon the coming in of the court, the cross-examination of Michael Donahue, the first witness for the prosecution in the Brown murder case, was begun, and with the following result:

Lived on the island ten years; occupation farming; worked for Henry Battey, Alanson Peckham, George A. Brown, Wm. Sisson and others; been at work at George A. Brown's two months before the fire; left him on the 26th of March; not been at work since; expected to get work on Jamestown, but was prevented from doing so on account of this trial; know Charles Brown for three years.

The witness then under the cross examination of Mr. Peckham described the house and premises of the late Wm. H. Brown.

Witness went to the front door usually when he went there to spend the evening; front door opened into a small hall; on the night of the fire went there soon after five o'clock; the prisoner's father came in two minutes afterwards; had his hat on when he came in; deceased told him that since he had given him (Charles) his property, he had got very saucy; he told Charles to shut the door; Charles replied by saying that there was no need of closing it further; that the house and door belonged to him; deceased then stepped to the door and clinched his son Charles; could not recollect what Charles said to warrant his father taking hold of him; did not rise from his seat while the row was in progress; Charles then went into the wash-room; went in and out of the wash-room several times; witness went to the door to answer a knock; Mr. Mumford P. Barker was at the door and he admitted him. The father told Mr. Barker that Charles was getting "sassy" since he (the father) had conveyed the property to him. The father told witness and Mr. Barker that Charles and his father had had a little skirmish; the father did not tell Barker of the first scuffle. While Barker was present a second scuffle ensued; neither the witness nor Barker interfered; both of them were seated and did not rise to separate them; Barker remonstrated with Charles for striking his father, saying he (the father) was an old man. Charles told his father that he never knew him to come from Newport without he had a bottle of rum in his pocket, and that but for one thing he would put him on the town. The prisoner had requested the witness before the coroner's inquest not to say anything about what had occurred at the house. Witness had never seen them fight before, but knew of the deceased having angry words with the prisoner. The father wanted to quarrel with Charles again, but the latter told him he would not. The father told Charles that his cakes were out of doors and he would give him the trouble of picking them up; heard Charles ask his father to wipe the blood from his face. Was called up the night of the fire by Charles; found George A. Brown, Fillmore Coggeshall and the prisoner present. There was snow on the ground; wind about northwest; put ladders to the window up northwest side of the house. Charles went up the ladder, while I held it. Charles broke in the window; Charles went up the second time; house was full of smoke; there was smoke also in the southeastern room; no one else offered to go up the ladder; I and Charles went to the back stairs; couldn't see any smoke there; found a cat and a tin pail in the washroom, which witness pulled out; saw Charles snatch a curtain from a window; never saw him take anything else; had seen sleigh bells hanging in the kitchen the evening of the fire; had not seen them before; had seen bells in a carriage house; they were silver plated, new fashion; Mr. Barker was a witness at the inquest; witness swore at the inquest that there was no row at Brown's house; reason for doing so was because he (witness) was afraid of prisoner; he had his liberty and I feared him; never knew him to do anybody any harm; had a talk with George A. Brown about the matter; prisoner had never threatened witness; this was only reason witness had testified as he did at the inquest—(sensation); since the fire had not told anybody that what he said at inquest was true; had talked with James Stewart and George A. Brown; witness swore at inquest that he heard Charles tell his father that he should be more careful about the fires; could not remember anything about it now; thought it was about a stick that had been left in the oven that had made Charles tell his father that he should be more careful about the fire; witness went to Providence at Mr. Hopkins' request; could not speak positively whether he went alone or not.

This closed the examination of this witness at 3.45 o'clock.

George A. Brown, trial justice of the town of Middletown, was then placed on the stand:

Resides in Middletown; is a farmer, trial justice and civil engineer; witness recognized a plat of the premises of the deceased which witness had drafted and the plans were examined by court, counsel and jury, and explained to them by witness, and this was the only purpose of calling this witness at this time.

Fillmore Coggeshall was next called; witness resided in January last in an addition to a house in Middletown, owned by James A. Brown; witness is brother-in-law to Charles Brown the prisoner, having married his sister; had lived at my wife's father's before going to live in James A. Brown's house; witness last saw Wm. H. Brown, the deceased, at nine o'clock on the morning of January the tenth; saw the defendant the same day, but did not speak to him; next saw him at ten minutes past one o'clock of the following morning; heard a noise on the piazza; awoke his wife; went down stairs; opened the door and found Charles Brown there; asked him what the matter was; he answered that the "old man had been raising hell;" he appeared to be excited; his right eye looked very red and it was bruised; next saw scratches on his face under the right eye; witness let him in and covered him up on the lounge; looked at the clock and saw that it was ten minutes past one o'clock; at two o'clock Charles called out to him and asked him where the little lamp was and said he wanted to go out; he was gone out about five minutes when he returned and called to me to come down stairs quick; he whispered to me and said "My God, I believe the house is on fire;" wanted me not to tell my wife, did tell my wife however; went out doors but could not see Brown's house on fire, and could not see it until I got to the road wall; then saw a bright light in one of the east windows; when he and Charles reached the top of the first wall they met; did not think from where he then was he should have supposed the house to be on fire; in the orchard Charles told witness that the old man put him out and broke the lamp all to the devil; all of the windows in the northeast room down stairs showed a bright light, but this was not the case in the windows in the room above, which was occupied by the father, William H. Brown. When witness got in front of the house he said "Where is the old man?" Charles made no reply; witness went to the back door which was opened by Charles, it not being fastened, and looked in with a lantern got from the outside of the woodhouse; went to George A. Brown's house and called him; as soon as the latter answered, we went for a ladder; put the ladder up to the northwest window; Charles handed out a curtain and a champagne basket; saw other articles which were in the cellar; Charles then went to woodhouse and got out some of his oats; witness saw in the ruins on the first floor what he supposed to be the body of the deceased; Charles and Donahue, the first witness, came to his house in the morning at five or six o'clock; Charles then took from his pocket an insurance policy, a deed of the place and other papers, which had been in a trunk in a room upstairs; witness then described what property he had seen since the fire which belonged to the prisoner; he heard the prisoner say that he supposed the fire must have been set in the cellar; prisoner had not slept at his house on the night of the fire nor had he watched with his wife; prisoner asked witness after he had followed him up stairs not to say anything about the papers; but if anybody did say anything to tell them that they (the papers) had been there for a month past; witness replied that he would do the best he could for him.

CROSS EXAMINED:—

Left Wm. H. Brown's house the fall previous to the fire; did not go to his sister-in-law's for the purpose of getting board; in June last heard that his father-in-law had deeded his property to the prisoner; did not go to his sister-in-law's and say that his wife should not live in the house, (her father's), another day because the property had been deeded to her brother; [witness then described the condition of the burning house on his arrival there] The attention of the witness was here called to several discrepancies in his testimony today and that given at the coroner's inquest; and stated in reply that his reason for not trying to get into the house was because he believed Charles that it was impossible to get in on account of the smoke; had read all the papers except the insurance policy; had read them more than once during the summer; they being in a desk; witness' wife first called attention to the papers; witness then described the room and bed occupied by the deceased.

Mrs. Fillmore Coggeshall, wife of the previous witness and sister of the prisoner, was then called:

First time witness saw her brother Charles was after two o'clock on Thursday morning, the eleventh day of January; he came to her house at ten minutes past one o'clock; when they, (that is, her husband and brother,) started to go, she went down stairs to bolt the door; her brother had not been there before that night; did not send him for any oil; witness next saw her brother at six o'clock same morning; he brought his blue overcoat with him; he was sitting by the fire and said he had lost all his clothes; witness asked him if there was any insurance on the place; he pulled out the papers and showed them to her; they were in his overcoat pocket; they were kept while he was at home in an upstairs room; usually had a fire in two rooms on the first floor; her father had no fire in his room, neither any stove; there were no quarrels of any extent while she was at home; if any, father usually commenced them; when her father had been drinking he was very quarrelsome and hard to get along with; since the fire witness had seen two pair of boots, an old coat, and a pair of blankets which belonged to her brother.

CROSS-EXAMINED:—

Had not told Mrs. Slocum, (another sister of the prisoner) that her brother and father had quarrelled about the deed on the Sunday preceding the March term; had said to her sister that she had told George A. Brown that she had not heard them quarrel about the deed. Mrs. Slocum is a sister of witness and prisoner.

George A. Brown the trial justice who acted as coroner at the inquest and who lives across the road from the burnt house, was then recalled:

Had drawn a plan of the premises at the request of Assistant Attorney General Hopkins, and which he again more fully explained; land and stone wall prevented any one from seeing Wm. H. Brown's house from where Fillmore Coggeshall lived; witness had made the necessary observations with engineering instruments at the request of the attorney general.

Witness was awakened on the morning of the eleventh of January by a loud knocking; some one cried out to him to come out quick as a house was afire; could not distinguish who called him; saw a light in the southeastern room of the lower floor of Wm. H. Brown's house; saw a light in the upper room through some glass which had been broken by the heat; this was fifteen minutes past two o'clock; went out and found Fillmore Coggeshall and Charles Brown near the house; (witness here described the condition of the premises on his arrival;) witness was satisfied that they had no means to put out the fire; soon afterwards it broke out through the roof; saw Charles and Fillmore trying to raise a ladder, but come down almost immediately; did not hear Charles enquire for his father; witness called out to deceased, but received no reply; the prisoner went up back stairs but did not remain two seconds; (witness here described what articles he saw Charleshad saved from the house): witness next went to the cellar in company with the others and assisted in getting some articles from that place; there was no fire in the cellar at that time; witness heard Charles say that he thought the fire had been set in the cellar, in response to an enquiry by Donahue; prisoner said the cellar doors had been left open; did not see anybody take out sleigh bells from the house, neither did he see anybody take out any boots or clothing; saw boots taken from the woodhouse; looked about to see if he could see anything of Wm. H. Brown's remains; saw bones and flesh and pointed it out to Coggeshall and Donahue; subsequently called Charles's attention to it, but Charles did not seem to take any interest in it as he did not look into the room where the body had fallen; after the fire Charles and Donahue went over to the residence of witness; at the breakfast table, Mrs. Brown, wife of witness, asked Charles if he did not want to wash his hands; he acted in a very unusual manner when she asked him; noticed his face was considerably scratched; had taken the testimony at the coroner's inquest and had handed it over to the clerk of the court for safe keeping; witness then referred to Brown's testimony at the inquest and which had been approved and signed by Brown, the prisoner, and the testimony was read by the attorney general.

At this place, at six o'clock the court was adjourned to nine o'clock Tuesday morning.

FIFTH DAY.—MORNING.

The court came in this morning, at nine o'clock. After the polling of the jury, and they all being found present, George A. Brown who was on the stand at the hour of adjournment last evening, was recalled and his direct examination resumed:

Went to the fire about five o'clock; also went several times afterwards; every time he went he saw a portion of the remains of Wm. H. Brown; the first time he returned, the floor had fallen through to the cellar; the second or third time the flesh had burned off and he could distinctly see the body or bones; saw the skull, ribs and other parts of the body; some of the ribs and one side appeared to be missing; had seen and examined skeletons before; last saw the ruins at about nine o'clock; next saw part of these bones in a box standing near the burned house; some twenty of the neighbors were present; directed Stephen P. Weaver to take care of the remains until the inquest; they were so held and taken to the house of witness when the inquest was held there; afterwards they were delivered to the sexton; next saw them at the state house in Newport; Deputy Sheriff Lake had them taken up and sealed, after which they were brought to Newport, where witness saw them.

CROSS-EXAMINATION:—

Could not give the exact dimensions of the rooms of Brown's house, but could of the cellar; [witness was here examined critically as to the plans which he had drawn of the premises, the counsel for the prisoner questioning closely upon the ground that witness had overdrawn with regard to the height of the hill between the burned house and the residence of James A. Brown where the prisoner's sister lived and where he went on the morning of the fire, and from which it was said by witnesses that the house of Wm. H. Brown could not be seen;] witness had made all the measurements with one exception, at the request of the attorney general; could not see the burned house from the stone wall on the road near James A. Brown's house, which was about 350 feet distant; had seen the prisoner often and visited him at his house; the last time was when the prisoner was sick; never went there except on business; the upper part of the house is fifty years old; the lower part about forty years old; during the last ten years had not been in the house over ten times; lived twenty years in the neighborhood last time; but altogether about forty years; prisoner lived in the neighborhood six or seven years; have not been unfriendly to the family of the prisoner; had some feeling in regard to the shore privilege held by the prisoner; never spoke to the prisoner about the matter but twice; regarded the prisoner as a thief as he infringed upon his rights; heard that prisoner's dog had been poisoned; no one of the family ever mentioned the occurrence to him; did not charge the prisoner with having given information to the Old Colony Railroad Company in reference to the witness; did not tell a man named Chase on the morning of the fire that William Henry Brown got drunk and set the house on fire himself; did not go into the carriage house at the fire, nor did he see anybody else; did not tell Chase that deceased came near setting the house on fire before.

EXAMINATION BY ATTORNEY GENERAL:—

Witness said that the difference between himself and the family of Wm. H. Brown was all about the shore property; had told Charles Brown to examine the deeds and see who was right: and that if it could not be settled peaceably they must settle it by law; did not go to law, as Charles in the meantime ceased infringing on his rightsas much as he usually had done; had heard from outside parties that the family accused him of poisoning Brown's dog; never thought that Charles or his father carried information to the Old Colony Railroad Company to the effect that he, (the witness) placed any obstructions on the railroad track; they said they believed him to be innocent of the charge.

Elizabeth C. Brown, wife of the previous witness, was next called:

Reside in Middletown; am wife of last witness; have known William H. Brown all my life time; have known defendant since he was a boy; (witness corroborated all her husband had said about being called on the night of the fire) heard defendant say he thought the fire caught in the north east corner of the cellar. Witness got up and went to the fire to render what assistance she could; did not see any fire in the cellar; after the fire, the defendant came to her house and remained until after breakfast; [the witness here described how the prisoner acted when she suggested that he wash his hands;] defendant acted in a very peculiar manner and examined his hands and appeared to be very nervous; noticed a bruise on his face; had his head down all the time when he was at her house; witness usually visited W. H. Brown's when there was sickness there; last time she went there was six months before when the prisoner was very sick; [the witness here described the condition of remains when she saw them in the cellar at 7 o'clock on the morning of the fire.]

Stephen P. Weaver called: resides in Middletown; was at the fire on the morning of January 11th; did not assist in taking the bones from the cellar; took charge of them subsequently, after they had been placed in a box; [the box containing the remains was here brought in, in charge of Deputy Sheriff Lake and was shown witness;] first saw the remains in the cellar; saw the bottom of a kerosene lamp near the remains together with bed keys.

James Chase sworn: resides in Middletown; was at the ruins from the fire at about one o'clock on the day after the fire: saw remains in the cellar and assisted in taking them out and helped to put them in a box, which witness identified with the remains as the one before him; had orders to dig them up which he did in the presence of Deputy Sheriff Lake and Coroner George A. Brown and saw them sealed up.

Deputy Sheriff Lake sworn: recognized the box and contents as those which he had disinterred by order of Attorney General Hopkins; first saw them in the cemetery grounds of the M. E. Church at the Four Corners in Middletown, in the possession of Mr. Chase, the sexton; they were taken up from their burial place at my direction, in presence also of Coroner George A. Brown; had them taken to the shed of the church and sealed with sealing wax and brought from there into the sheriff's office in the state house, in Newport, where I had the remains examined by Drs. Butler and Winslow, in presence of the coroner, and then sealed up again and placed in an upper room of the state house and locked up, where they had been kept until now: all was done in consequence of a written direction from the attorney general.

Dr. George F. Winslow called: am a surgeon by profession; have been in the United States navy fifteen years; was called by Deputy Sheriff Lake to examine the remains in the sheriff's office at the state house; examined the remains thoroughly; was satisfied the remains in the box before him are those he had examined in the sheriff's office; [was satisfied that they were human remains and he took up several pieces whose places in the human body witness explained.]

Dr. S. W. Butler called: resides in Newport and is a physician by profession; was requested to examine the contents of the box and pronounced them to be parts of a human body beyond all possibility of a doubt.

F. G. Harris called; have been correspondent of the Providence Journal for ten years; saw the prisoner two days after the fire; also saw him at the Newport jail; had a conversation with the prisoner which he briefly outlined; he wanted the prisoner to make a plain statement to him for the paper which he represented: he told the prisoner he had better make a statement of the case; [Mr. Sheffield here objected to the witness proceeding to give the "plain statement" and fortified his objection by authorities; objection overruled and witness proceeded to narrate the story of the prisoner to him as published by witness at the time:] witness was present at the coroner's inquest.

CROSS-EXAMINED:—

Did not tell prisoner to tell all and he would help him; did not offer the prisoner his clothes but did say that if he had a pair of pants that would fit him, he would bring them to him; prisoner told him he had lost his clothes at the fire and was destitute; was summoned to appear before the grand jury and was also summoned last week to appear at the Supreme Court now; had a portion of the conversation with the prisoner published; had not read the papers containing the report, for three months; [witness was shown a report in a paper which he identified as his production]; had not published and circulated unfriendly reports about the prisoner; [various portions of his reports were here shown to witness]; no person had told witness that the prisoner was a hard character; it was his impression that George A. Brown had told him that the prisoner was of a very quarrelsome disposition; could tell who told him that the prisoner was a hard drinker; had lived in Newport some four years; been a reporter two years; was clerk in quartermaster's department at Fort Adams; previous to that was in a lawyer's office in New York, as a copyist: after getting his discharge from the army, he married and returned home to England; never did any soldier's duty, but always acted as clerk; collected his information about the character of the prisoner at the inquest, and the information contained the precise language of the prisoner.

This concluded the testimony for the prosecution, which rested here at 11.30 o'clock.

After a short recess Mr. Peckham, of counsel for the prisoner, opened to the jury the line of defence:—

The opening address of Mr. Peckham on behalf of the defence was a most impressive one, in which he called the attention of the jury to the terrible nature of the crime with which the prisoner was charged, and especially its unnatural character, the murder of his father, and against a charge so terrible and unnatural, he asked, how could he or any one do otherwise than deny it? Mr. Peckham intimated that the defence would produce testimony that will convict one of the principal witnesses for the prosecution of perjury; this witness is one who was present at the house of Wm. H. Brown on the night in question and said that no row then occurred; that the defence would show that the prisoner's sister, Mrs. Fillmore Coggeshall, was unfriendly to the prisoner; as also Mr. Geo. A. Brown as well as the reporter Mr. Harris and so on through the whole; Mr. Peckham intimated how fully they expected to be able to travesty the points attempted to be made on the part of the state; and finally that the death of the deceased was the result of his own acts and habits and of the visions of remorse in which he continually lived.

Mr. Peckham closed his opening address on behalf of the defence at 12.40, and during its delivery received the closest and most absorbed attention of the court and the jury and of the audience, fully showing its impressiveness.

Upon the conclusion of Mr. Peckham's address, the court was adjourned to three o'clock this afternoon.

......When Parson Brownlow was attending conference at Abington, Va., in 1850, he suffered a serious illness, and Bishop Capers and other divines present were rather anxious to know how the "eccentric parson" felt in view of an exchange of worlds. Accordingly they visited his room, and the bishop read the Scriptures and sang and prayed with him. On taking leave, Dr. Capers took him by the hand and, looking him full in the face, inquired as to his prospects beyond the grave. The answer was prompt and confident. "Well, bishop, if I had my life to live over again I could improve it in many respects, and would try to do so. However, if the books have been properly kept in the other world—and of this I have no doubt—there is a small balance in my favor."

BUSINESS NOTICES.

THE WISE COURSE IN RHEUMATISM.

Rheumatic patients who have been induced to submit to depletion by blood letting, or to take colchicum and other drugs of an equally pernicious character, will consult their well-being by abandoning such insane procedure, and using as a substitute Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which will infallibly afford them the much desired relief, and is absolutely safe. This benign, vegetable depurient cools the blood by expelling from it the inflammatory elements which give rise to maladies of a rheumatic and gouty type, and rectifies disordered conditions of the stomach, nervous system and bowels which usually accompany them. As rheumatism has a tendency to attack the heart, the desirability of an early resort to the Bitters is obvious, since the danger is increasing by every moment of delay.

For sale cheap, as I want to reduce stock.

I HAVE ON HAND and want to sell the following vehicles:

1 extra nice new Two Seated Sleigh made at Albany, lined with crimson plush, with both pole and shafts, just the sleigh to make a Christmas present, and be remembered at every snow storm. 2 second hand Two Seated Sleighs, with pole only. 1 Single Sleigh, second hand. 1 second hand Coupe Carryall in good order and just painted, good serviceable storm carriage and cheap. 1 Brownell Carryall. 1 C Spring Top Phaeton Buggy. 1 Brewster Top Buggy. 2 Phaeton Top Buggy. 1 Open Buggy. 1 Two Seated Open Wagon. 4 Express Wagons, 1 nice Dog Cart with reversible seat, pole and shafts, just the carriage to drive 4-in-hand to. 1 very nice new Box Top Buggy. 1 very nice new Basket Top Phaeton, will sell a great deal lower now than in the Spring—makes a good close Buggy, or a nice summer carriage. 8 second hand Beach Wagons, cheap. 1 second hand Landau, cheap. 3 Barouches in good order and nicely painted. 1 Victoria with pole and shafts, cheap if sold now. 1 Covered Wagon, will carry 8 people easy. 1 new Express Wagon, cheap as we are giving up selling express wagons. 1 new Road Wagon, just the thing for business or pleasure. 1 Sargent Top Phaeton Buggy, been used but little. 1 Phaeton Top Buggy, one year's use and that with care. 1 second hand Light Dog Cart with shafts. 1 second hand Drag with seat behind, just the thing for 6 horse team, newly painted and in good order, and several other carriages all of which I shall be glad to sell for cash or paper that will be paid at maturity.

I would say that through the kindness of my friends, I have disposed of about 100 different vehicles the past few years having sold carriages to go to Providence, R. I., Stonington, Ct., Little Rock, Arkansas, Middletown, Portsmouth, Tiverton, Fall River, New Hampshire and various other places, all of which have proved as represented. To those having any House Painting, Graining or any other work, that they want done and are willing to pay a fair price to have the same done in a good and substantial manner, I shall be glad to give estimates, and will warrant all work done by me to be in every respect as represented. I return my thanks for the generous patronage which has been bestowed in the past and solicit a continuance in the future. To my very numerous friends who have neglected to settle their bills for work done long ago,—if they will now respond by attending to them at once they will confer a great favor, as money is now very useful.

Newport Laundry

—AND—

Steam Carpet Beating.

In Connection with the NEWPORT LAUNDRY, we have put up a patent

STEAM CARPET BEATING MACHINE,

by which the Carpets are beaten on the back and brushed on the face. The dust and dirt as fast as beaten out of the fabric, are removed from the compartment where the carpets are beaten, by an Exhaust Fan, which also removes and carries out of the room any moth or other larva which may be beaten out of the carpet with the dirt and dust, so that there is no possibility of their settling back on the carpet.

Prices for Beating Carpets:

Ingrain and Three Ply, 6c. per yard.
Brussels and Tapestry, 5c. per yard.
Velvet and Wilton, 6c. per yard.

As the machine is under cover, carpets can be beaten in stormy, as well as in pleasant weather.

ENGLISH AND RAG CARPETS WILL BE WASHED FOR 6 CTS. PER SQUARE YARD.

Manilla, Hemp or Rope Carpets thoroughly Cleaned for from 8 to 12 cents per yard.

Orders may be sent by mail, directed to the Newport Laundry, given to the driver of the Laundry Wagon, or may be left with J. D. Richardson, 210 Thames Street, agent for Newport Laundry. CARPETS CALLED FOR AND RETURNED FREE OF CHARGE FOR CARTAGE.

TUESDAY, MAY 8, 1877.

THE POPULATION OF THE GLOBE.

The most trustworthy estimate of the number of people on the earth for the year 1876, as furnished by German statisticians, is 1,423,917,000. This is an increase of over twenty-seven millions on the estimate of 1875, but the augmentation is not due entirely to the excess of births over deaths, but largely to the obtaining of more accurate information regarding the population of regions hitherto little known, and to more perfect census returns from other countries.

Asia is still the home of the majority of the human race, after having supplied offshoots from which have sprung great western peoples. About four sevenths of the earth's population is Asiatic, or 855,548,500; Europe comes next with over a fifth, or 209,921,600; America, with less than a sixteenth, or 85,519,800; and, finally, Australia and Polynesia, with the very small fraction of 4,748,600 people. Europe is the most densely populated, having eighty-two persons to a square mile; Asia comes next, with forty-eight to the square mile; Africa, next, with seventeen and a half; and America and Australia bring up the rear, with five and a half and one and a half respectively.

There are 215 cities on the earth, with a population of over 100,000, twenty-nine of half a million or more, and nine cities containing a million or more inhabitants. Of these last, four are in China. Including Brooklyn with New York, the greatest cities of the world stand in this order: London, 3,489,423; Paris, 1,851,792; New York, 1,585,922; Vienna, 1,091,999; Berlin, 1,044,000; Canton and three other Chinese cities, 1,000,000 each.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW'S

SOOTHING SYRUP,

For Children Teething, greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and Relief and Health to Your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in

Thousands of Cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve Griping in the Bowels, and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY AND DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—DO NOT LET YOUR PREJUDICES, NOR THE PREJUDICES OF OTHERS, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.

Be sure and call for

2. It has done a successful business for eighty years, thereby demonstrating the ability of its management.

3. It has uniformly maintained during its long career, the Highest Reputation for Integrity and Honorable Dealing, justifying thereby, full faith that your rights will receive fair and liberal protection.

TO THE LOVERS of STEREOSCOPIC VIEWS.

THE ATTENTION of the public is invited to the following views from negative by J. A. WILLIAMS, which is believed to be the best and largest collection of the gems of Newport scenery ever offered.

The negatives are all carefully taken with the best materials and instruments and aim to present not merely patches of landscapes from points chosen at random as is the case with many others, but, views which shall combine within themselves all the best elements of a picture in the artistic sense.

We would call particular attention to our new cabinet size views taken the present season, 1876, which exhibit with all the fidelity of the stereoscope,

Parties who may wish to make presents to their friends abroad, or to carry home memento of Newport, cannot make a more acceptable choice than by selecting from the many beautiful views of Newport and surroundings.

Interiors and exteriors of houses taken to order. Also parties, horses, &c.
